Clean-Air Advance

THE NEW RECIPE for clean air in the province I announced by Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell is a distinct improvement over the old. It might be better still if the government were to accept the responsibility of being cook. Instead, regional district boards will be in charge at their several hot stoves. But nevertheless, it promises a definite advance which may well, as Mr. Campbell supposes, set a pattern for other parts of the country and the continent.

Unquestionably there is good sense in insisting that industries use pollution control systems which are technologically the best available as time goes on, retaining the B.C. Research Council to give advice on the latest methods, and abandoning the system of setting permissible standards of air pollution which, on the basis of many a little making a much, threatens uncontrollable problems in areas of great industrial and residential growth. The total of "permissible" contributions of fumes and fallout can be decidedly Placing the responsibility for implementation and enforcement in the hands of the regional district boards, moreover, is another step forward. Until now air pollution has been subject to control only by muniespalities, with two major handicaps. Municipalities cannot do anything about their air being rendered foul beyond their borders, and there is often a natural reluctance to pass stiffer regulations than apply elsewhere, thus discouraging industry from establishing or remaining in the community.

The same disadvantages pertain to regional administration, although in lesser measure, and this is why provincial control would be more effective and desirable. But since making and enforcing the regulations almost always involves controversy-money vs. clean air-it is not surprising that the B.C. government has found it expedient to give the cooks' role to the regional boards. Provincial control has been declared "unworkable." It is hardly a convincing explanation, however, that after proclaiming a policy for the regional boards of keeping industries right up to date with technologieal improvements, Mr. Campbell says the reason the boards should have the responsibility is that "local conditions, both atmospheric and industrial, will dermine . . . the level of control which best serves."

Sports and Politics

COMMENTATOR of Novosti Press Agency quoted in the Soviet News Bulletin takes pains to make readers believe that the recent withdrawal of Russian and Polish track and field teams from competition in the United States was by the athletes' own decision. The allegation of the U.S. ambassador to Moscow that he cancellation was prompted from above was "not nly . . . erroneous in essence, but also testifies to standing of the sentiments of the Soviet eople, of public opinion in all countries on the globe.

The idea that sports are outside of politics, the uthor suggests, is a fantastic romance: "There are no fantastic athletes who would ignore all what is taking place around them. Athletes cannot remain indifferent to good and evil, because they are the same kind, of people and citizens like the rest of their fellow countrymen. And hence the refusal of the athletes to compete In the United States: to take part "would look like a show of indifference, if not support of this (Vietnamrow's explanation of why, for instance, the Bolshoi Ballet did not hasten off home at the same time from its American tour; why Soviet chess players still turned up for a series of matches in Los Angeles and said there was no politics in chess.

From the point of view of the Novosti writer this must make the ballet dancers and chess players of the D.S.S.R. something less than "the same kind of people and citizens like the rest of their fellow countrymen -unless, indeed, the decisions came from the Krem-in, calculating in which area the chief propaganda value lay.

From Washington

A new American strategy is a new Anercan strategy is emerging in Asia. It is built around three major thrusts of policy all aimed at stabilizing one of the most dangerous and volatile areas of President Johnson and other top administration officials have all clearly identified the three streams of policy in recent statements, speeches and press The call for:

 Bringing the war in Viet Nam to a successful conclusion as quickly as possible, by military power if all else fails. · Building strong and prosperous nations around the rim of Asia and throughout the Pacific Basin. · Extending an olive branch to China and other Asian Communist nations in hopes it will some day be accepted and friendlier relations can begin.

It can be claimed with this is new, that it is all part of past U.S. policy of containment of communism, of foreign aid and basic approach to China.

But there appears to be a great deal that is new in the broad vision of a new Asia appearance appearance appears to the strategy and in the broad vision of a new Asia past U.S. policy of containment of foreign and and basic approach to China. But there appears to be a great deal that is new in the extreme emphasis now being placed on Asia, in the greatly pronouncements.

Bombing Points Way

There is no completely hard evidence of the new U.S. policy were laid down in a determination to break the back of Communist power in South Viet Nam.

But the massive new bombing of North Vietnamese oil facilities, certainly is evidence of a sort. So too is the decision to boild up U.S. forces in Viet Nam from the present 280,000 to most spring.

Other parts of this picture can be sketched in with information leaked from recent White House meet the saked from recent White House meet the saked from recent White House meet the can be sketched in with information leaked from recent White House meet the saked from recent White House meet the can be sketched in with information leaked from recent White House meet the can be sketched in with information leaked from recent White House meet the can be sketched in with information leaked from recent White House meet the can be sketched in with information leaked from recent White House meet the saked from Africa for Communist at a small, intense man, fercety in favor of African majority rule.

This is not exactly the sort of dissidence that Premier Ian Smith will allow to rumble for long under his white supremancial regime.

The clearly extended an olive from South Africa for Communist vite and the strategy and in dether and the care apparently being embraced in the strategy and in deal from South Africa for Communist and the broad vision of a new Ania and the promouncements.

be sketched in with information leaked from recent White House meetings, all portraying Johnson's determination to bring heavy new military pressure to bear on North Viet Nam until it is forced to end the war.

The bear extended an olive branch too by saying:

"The peace we seek in Asia is a peace of conciliation: between the peace of conciliation: between the peace of conciliation between the peace of the many have come, unless Mr. Smith decided to take firmer action against Gerry Caplan and his friends as an example to the problems.

But it is the typical attitude of the war.

Olive Branch Offer

And he especially extended the olive branch to China, stating:

"A peaceful mainland China is central to a peaceful Asia." A misguided China must be encouraged toward understanding of the outside world and toward policies of peaceful cooperation.

"For lasting peace can neverement to Asia as long as the T00,000,000 people of mainland China are isolated by their rulers from the outside world."

Johnson spoke of building prosperity "among the nations of free Asia" and called it essential. He cited rates of seconomic growth "beyond the most optimistic hopes of a few years ago" achieved by "one country after another."

Perhaps because in Canada he is a member of a minority religious group, Gerry Caplan empathizes to a greater extent with the African underdog than to the outside world and toward policies of peaceful cooperation.

As part of a much narrower stream of policy it provided the stimulus, the guidence and the lower trade barriers needed to help bring about the present economic miracle of Japan. Which may become the third ranking industrial power of the world.

The same type U.S. help has now produced a burgeonning prosperity in mitomalist China's Formosa and touched off a sudden burst of economic growth "beyond the most optimistic hopes of a few years ago" achieved by "one country after another."

And it doesn't take much imagination to foresee the possibility of Indonesia — now in the hands of much more realistic anti-Communist leaders — doing the same.

Indonesia, having pulled back from the brink of communism, is airendy examining steps necessary to get back into the International Monetary Fund. A next step would be to rejoin the World Bank.

After that, if it wants U.S. aid, it too will have to meet the tough new standards of self-help being laid down as the price of U.S. aid under present policy.

This means reforms embracing taxation, exports, imports, currency devaluation, liberaliz-

LAWNS

A beautiful, well-groomed, year-round green lawn is a valuable asset to any home and neighborhood. That's why so many homeowners spend every year much effort and expense for fertilizers and weed-killing ingredients in order to obtain a firstclass looking lawn. Unfortunately the results are as a rule disappointing because lawns even when constantly well watered and looked after, can only stand up to the impact of hot dry summer weather if they are protected by a heavy layer of turf. Topdressing of existing lawns is the only way to obtain such a layer of turf.

Contrary to general belief summer is the best time for lawn top-dressing. For a free estimate and expert advice regarding the top-dressing of any particular lawn area we suggest you contact the Layritz Nurseries. If they take on the job they guarantee results.

"JUST WEST OF POINT ELLICE BRIDGE ON BAY ST." 280 BAY STREET, VICTORIA

The fate of Victoria's talked-about, forgottenabout, on-again-off-again professional football team will likely be decided at a breakfast meeting this morning at the Dominion Hotel.

An official of the Pacific Football League will meet with Victoria football enthusiasts who have supported the proposed Victoria Steelers entry in the Pacific League.

The league has teams in U.S. cities in the Pacific northwest and is supposed to be comparable to the Continental Football League in the east.

Victoria was mentioned as a site for a league franchise a few weeks ago, and a tentative schedule for the use of Macdonald Park was drawn up. Since then, however, there has been silence.

But today's meeting should bring a decision one way or the other on whether Victoria will have a football team this fall.

Tyee season in Vancouver Island waters is about to start and there is keen competition over which area will get away first - Campbell River or Alberni Inlet.

So far only about half a dozen tyee have been weighed into the King Fisherman Contest and they have come from the out-

Thursday morning we received a radio-telephone call from Gus Beurling aboard his boat at Nahmint Bay. "They are here. They are rolling all over the bay," he said.

He was backed up by Port Boathouse which reported some geodsized spring (chinook) salmon at San Mateo Bay further down the Inlet and some showing up at Nahmint P., Some big spring (chinooks) have been caught at Franklin River. From Campbell River Corky Corbett to Painter's Lodge predicts the first major run of tyee salmon (spring-chinooks 30 pounds or heavier) will show within the week. Already some tyee have been weighed in there and a good number of the spring (chinooks) is now in the high 20s Last Friday we got on a wee bit of this fabulous coho fishing up Qualicum way. We got a phone call from Eric Charman and Clare Anderson, who have been hitting limits up there, just about as we were leaving Langford for Nahmint Lake. We told Charman we would only have an hour to fish while passing through Qualicum. When we arrived guide boat and guide Bill Norman were waiting for us and 45 minutes from beach back to beach and we had two King Fisherman weighers, a spring and a coho, had one strike, landed two dogfish and a grilse. Small Strip-Teaser did the trick and we didn't go far from the Qualicum Beach Boathouse.

Charman has been getting some coho by casting from the shore at the mouth of the Little Qualicum.

Barney Goodlet reports the Qualicum coho fishing holding up fine. There were 65 fish for 30 boats out from his boathouse Tuesday. A number of springs is being taken as well as coho. Murray Cree reports moochers and strip casters doing well

Port Renfrew waters are producing spring (chinook) salmon up to 24 pounds and the odd coho up to 10 pounds. Otter Point is reported to have slackened off, but big spring

(chinooks) and some coho are being taken in Secretary Island, Ercher Bay, Pedder Bay waters. Victoria waterfront has been fair and Oak Bay guide Howard Pepper reports lots of fish and lots of bait with The Gap best spot. He uses 75 feet of line and planer or 1% pounds of Searun cutthroat are being taken from the fishing floats at both Sooke Harbor and West Bay Marina.

Coho are reported on the increase in outside waters, par-ticularly in James Island and Sidney waters. Saunien Inlet is producing fairly well all over, but mostly Cowichan Bay is rated fair to good, according to when you hit it with spring (chinooks) still main attraction, but some smaller coho around.

Coho and jacks and the odd big spring are being taken in Active Pass waters. Some big spring (chinooks) are coming from Northwest Bay waters, but the coho fishing is slowing. Deep Bay isn't as hot Campbell River waters from Little River and Bates Beach north are all reported pretty good, getting better as you get closer to Campbell River off Quadra Island. In the Miracle Beach area some anglers have been chasing as far away as Freshwater fishing is holding up surprisingly well.

Flatfish has been deadly for good-sized trout in Lower Campbell Lake and now is the time fishing should be at its best in Upper Campbell and Buttle Lakes. But with salmon fishing so good in north-Island waters few anglers are trying Sproat Lake and Great Central Lake are producing good trout catches. At Cowichan River above Skutz it is the white flies in the late evenings that are taking the big fish.

B.C. Keeps Youth Crown

McBride Canada's Youngest Premier

McBride

Proud British Columbians proved out another first Thursday when they demonstrated that the "youngest provincial premier of the century" is not Alexander Campbell of Prince Edward Island. The youngest was Premier Sir Richard McBride of B.C.

Premier Campbell, who squeaked through to win in Prince Edward Island, was 32 years, seven months and 27 days old when he was sworn in

Premier McBride, sworn in as British Columbia's premier on June 1, 1903, was 32 years, five months and 15 days old on the day of his swearing-

Premier Campbell, however, remains the youngest premier born in this century.

Weed Poisoning Colonist Swim 'Off' Tuesday

Colonist swim classes will be held Monday as planned, but Tuesday's classes have been cancelled because of weed-poisoning operations at Elk Lake.

Elk Lake will be closed to swimmers for a 24-hour period from noon Monday while a poison spray is applied to weeds, which have become a safety hasard for swimmers.

Swim instructor Margie Nay-mith says that the weed eradication program will be started after the swim classes have finished Monday.

Tuesday's lesson will be made to poison spray is applied to could cause discomfort to swimmers. It takes about 24 hours to dissipate in the water.

Columbia

This is only half the story...

the other half begins in vineyards uniquely tavored by soil and climate, where the Andres' vines of old world heritage, French Columbar. Golden Chasselas and Johannesburg Riesling are tended by master vintagers.

After careful pressing of the choicest grapes, the new-born wine is deposited in oaken casks to age and mellow naturally. Every unhurried step, from the ripening of the grapes to the final bottling, is attended by experts who are dedicated to producing fine wine.

> This is the half of the story most people never know, but without it, there couldn't be a happy ending.

The game protectors presumably tried to halt netting of steelhead, a game fish. The salmon, a commercial fish, is

Salesman Films Beheading

ADEN (Reuters) was publicly beheaded Wednesday outside the gates of San a, the Yemen capital, and two other men and a woman awaited execution, said a European salesman who arrived Wednesday night.

* * * The salesman, who asked his identity remain secret, said he made a color movie film of the man's beheading. He left San'a before the other three executions took place.

The salesman said he was told the four were convicted of a grenade attack on a San'a mosque Sunday. Four persons ere killed and several wounded in the attack.

* * * Ala four were Royalists, sup-porters of the Yemen monarchy which has been waging a civil war against the Republicans in the Yemen for some years.

Chicken Caused Disease

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) Barbecued chickens sold at a supermarket here were blamed by state health officials Thursday for an outbreak of sal-monelia food poisoning which infected at least 50 persons and may have contributed to two

Officials from the state health department and representatives of the Spokane city health department said the salmonelia bacteria had been narrowed to 600 chickens from on the coast and distributed here.

Jack Aliard, associated epidemiologist for the state department of health, said all the chickens in the shipment believed infected were sold before the outbreak was discovered. C. L. (BUZZ) FRASER EV 2-8017 or EV 5-4300 Newstead Realty Ltd. AGED WOMAN DIES The first case reported came

Bed-Making Fun

The planning and design of a perenthing in the world. It is rather like putting together a jigsaw puzzle, and you must juggle with such factors as height of plant, color of bloom, season of flowering and rate of spread until it comes

It is possible, of course, to buy plans for a perennial border or get them out of a book, but this is rather like looking or a book, but this is rather like looking up the answers to a crossword puzzle, and I think it is more fun to work things out for yourself. Go shead and make your inevitable mistakes—they can all be rectified later on.

One obvious error is planting the tall subjects too far forward and the little be seen. No great harm is done here—you just shift them around to better positions, either in the fall or in the spring before growth commences. But do make the necessary notes in mid-summer when these faults are observed, growth dies down.

I think it is a mistake to plant too hned up in the back row, all the medium growers in the middle row and all the dwarfs in a straight line across the

Such an arrangement looks unnatural and regimented, and always reminds me of the way the school photographer would group the kids in our class according to height while posing us for the class photograph on the school steps.

A better plan, for my money, is to bring the tall plants forward here and there along the length of the bed, thereby creating a series of "bays," each one filled with smaller plants. In this way. each bay opens up a new vista as you stroll along the bed.

A common fault in perennial beds, is to have too many of the plants blooming in late spring, making a great splash of color in June but with very little interest for the rest of the season. Obviously the thing to do here is to mix them up, keeping the border in balance by planting enough of the midsummer and fall-blooming kinds, and distributing these throughout the bed so that no. seasonal gaps appear.

Some gardeners rely upon a second crop of bloom from the spring-flowering lupins, delphiniums, anchusas and py-rethrums finish their first period of bloom, they are cut to the ground and given a mulch of old manure to induce a second and later display. This technique works fine on certain vegetables and the cut-and-come-again kinds of annuals, for these plants are perennials, the plants gradually deterior-

The second crop of bloom is nothing like as good as the first, and the roots are so weakened by overwork that next spring's display must inevitably suffer.

As I have mentioned before, the of recuperation. The vitality of the plant is at its lowest ebb, for it has "shot the works" on a flowering spree and must build up its reserves again, slowly, through the action of sunlight on its

the bright actors of British films and stage. You will see him first in Something Funny Happened on the Way to the Forum, with Zero Mostel and Phil Silvers Oh, say it isn't true that Phil's wife, the mother of his enchanting little daughters, is divorcing him! Currently, Crawford is playing one of The Jokers two young men who decide to steal the crown jewels from the Tower of London just for tun. By night, he stars in cently discussing religion. "I'm not very religious," he told me now, "but I believe in God. I was an only child, and I always liked to talk to God."

I was hoping Crawford would go to the U.S., and he might. "I'm leaving The Anniversary in two weeks because I have to do another film immediately after The Jokers—for Dick Lester, How I Won the War. It's the memoirs of a young lieutenant in the Second World War. The comedy emerges from the realistic tragedy. If The Anniversary goes to America right away, I won't be able to do it on Broadway. But if they wait until the end of the year, I could go. I'd like to, and I'm ing to the young actors in London. There's so much enthusiasm, so many opportunities for them, so much originality.

Romy Schneider's first scene in Triple Cross after her recent marriage to actor Harry Meyan was a nude bit with Christopher Plummer while her bridegroom watched and, presumably, suffered. The happy couple - and I mean Romy and Harry -- will settle in Berlin when the picture is finished.

"I can't make pictures," said Feter O'Tsele, "unless I can spell each assignment with a play." This is why, having finished The Night of the Generals for Columbia, Peter will start his two-week stand at the Galety theatre in Dublin with Boan O'Casey's Juno and the Paycock. The Irish scalpers — yes, they have them, too — are trying to get $100 a ticket on Grafton Street. It should be a hot time in the old town with Peter and his palls. Friends are flying in from London and Paris, and as far away as New York for the opening — Peter Peter and his pais. Friends are flying in from London and Paris, and as far away as New York for the opening — Peter always has such a ball on stage and anything can happen. Coming up — New York with, he hopes. Asses Baserest in a repertory season of two months — The Merchant of Venice, Shaw's Man and Superman, and The Taming of the Shrew, which his pais, the Bartons, are now filming in Rome.

Barbra Streisand sang My Man on her last night in Funny Girl as a special encore. We are still combing hot dogs, salami, and knishes out of our hair (flown in from Nathan's in New York) from her farewell party . . . Now Barbra is back in the States, and I bet she is already missing London. Someone here complained that Barbra really has a small voice, to which she retorted that she never wanted to be an Ethel Merman, and what her voice lacked in quantity was made up for in quality.

David McCallum's estranged wife, Jill Ireland, should be pleased that the man she has been linked with, actor Charles Bromson, absolutely will not discuss the possibility of a marriage with her, after she gets her divorce. "There are children on both sides to be considered," said Charles when I talked to him on the set of The Dirty Dozen. "A wrong word could embarrass and really hurt them." He and Jill are in touch with each other, the actor told membe's in Hollywood with a TV series—and I gathered it was a serious relationship. Charles, who is a fine painter, recently sold a drawing for $3,000. His ex-wife has some of his paintings, and "I'm glad I can see them when I visit my children."

Pilot Passes Out, Automatic Pilot Takes Over

Spy Plane Flies On and On

WASHINGTON (AP)—A high-altitude U-2 plane flying from the United States toward South America is missing, and the de-fence department said Thurs-day it assumes the pilot lost consciousness in flight.

In a special message read to reporters, a defence department spokesman said the Strategic Air Command craft, used for recommand craft, used for recommand craft, used for recommance missions, was spokesman said. The last radar "under apparent control of the course south.

Authorities in South America have been alerted, he said.

The plans took off Thursday morning from Barksdale Air Force Base, La., "on a routine mission," the spokesman said.
Radio contact was last made with the pilot while he was off the coast of Florida, the contact with the aircraft showed it was over Panama.

"It is estimated that the aircraft fuel would have been ex-hausted by mid-afternoon East-ern Daylight Time," the spokesman said.

The U.S. defence department later identified the pilot as Capt. Robert D. Hickman, 32, Hickman is the father of six children, the eldest a nine year-cid-on and the youngest a two-year-old daughter. Hickman joined the 100th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing

The craft had been due to turn east or west off its southerly course—the spokesman did not say which—between Sara-sota and Key West, Fla.

Continuation of the due southerly course apparently would have taken the plane across Cubs.

is a valuable asset to any home and neighborhood. That's why so many homeowners spend every year much effort and expense for fertilizers and weed-killing ingredients in order to obtain a firstclass looking lawn. Unfortunately the results are as a rule disappointing because lawns even when constantly well watered and looked after, can only stand up to the impact of hot dry summer weather if they are protected by a heavy layer of turf. Topdressing of existing lawns is the only way to obtain such a layer of turf.

Contrary to general belief summer is the best time for lawn top-dressing. For a free estimate and expert advice regarding the top-dressing of any particular lawn area we suggest you contact the Layritz Nurseries. If they take on the job they
